GROUPS MAY LOSE CAMPUS PRIVILEGES

The loss of all campus privileges is in store for 14 on-campus organizations unless they can give reasons before the Student Court Monday night why such action should not be taken.

The organizations have already exceeded the deadline, November 18, announced Chief Justice Francis Stofels. Therefore they are requested to send a representative to the Student Court when that body meets on Monday, November 22, in the office of the Student body president. Any member who can provide information as to the present status of his organization is urged to appear.

Miss Alice Lee Freeman of the court points out that no action will be taken at that time, but any organization which is not represented at Monday's meeting will be deprived of its recognition as an on-campus organization. Such action would result in their loss of the privilege of using the bulletin boards, the date book, the Spartan Daily, meeting places on the campus, etc.

Organizations affected by the decree are: Alpha Eta Rho, Alpha Delta Sigma, Alpha Eta Sigma, Gamma Club, Epsilon Pi Tau, Eta Phi, Delta, Forestry Club, Geography Club, Pegasus, Phi Epsilon, Phi Upsilon Pi, Pre-Legal Club, Sociology Club, Swimming Club.

Upper Class Mixer In December 3

White and gold will be the distinctive dress for the juniors and seniors at their quarterly mixer on December 3.

Juniors will wear gold with gold armbands, and the seniors will wear white with white armbands. Dick Fry has been appointed chairman for the juniors, and Charles McCumby is chairman for the seniors.

Plans are under way for "entertainment plus," said Bill Kidwell, in charge of entertainment for the evening. Seniors will handle entertainment, while juniors will handle poster publicity. This will be the one event of the quarter where both upper classes will forget "feudin'" for an evening and have fun together.

Committee members are still stressing the fact that lower classes are invited to the mixer only if they want their heads shaved. With spirit surging high in both classes as a result of recent class parties, and with plans going strong to make it good, Fry promised that the whole affair would be a "really gala occasion".

Social Science, Speech Dept. Heads Run Wild Over Stunned Students

By DICK FRY

"THE WAR IS OVER!"

Girls cried, fellows hollered "no more gas rationing," slapped each other on the back, and swore that they would go on a seven-day bender as Owen "Orson Welles" Broyles and his KSJS crew put on the greatest psychological drama since the original Welles thrilled the nation with his "Man from Mars" production in the fall of 1938, before the War Aims class in room 24 yesterday.

Students rose from the back of the room to get nearer the radio, three or four reservists tore their cards to bits, and a hush fell over the group as the effect of the startling announcement by Instructor Milton Rendahl that an armistice had been signed, began to take a stronger hold on the audience.

From the loud-speaker that Rendahl brought into the room came first the voice of a French announcer signing off following a talk by Marshal Pétain to the people of France and the world. The hook-up was then switched back to New York City, and Dorothy Thompson gave a brief review of the situation and commented upon its effect.

NBC then turned to Rome and picked up a broadcast from the Vatican by Pope Pius XII. He announced that Mussolini had been received into the sanctuary of the Papal state and that the world must begin to rebuild itself through "Christian love". At this point, however, his talk was interrupted by static that forced its discontinuation.

Turning over to the British Isles, the voice of Winston Churchill addressing the English people was picked up and relayed to the class. Churchill praised the stalwart attitude of the people and (Continued on page 4)

Theater Party Tickets On Sale

Tickets are now available in the Controller's office, from Senior council members, or at the theater for members of the class of '43 planning to attend the get-together theater party Monday night.

"It's going to be a big night with a skit planned as well as the regularly scheduled show. Judging from the large crowd that turned out for the senior mixer two weeks ago, there will be a lively bunch attending the party which will be held at the Jose theater from 7 to 10 p.m.," Jo Cribari and Elyse Bartenstein, co-chairman of the affair, announced yesterday.

"Some lucky senior will get the 'bird' literally in the form of a live 10-pound turkey to be awarded by Tom Taylor and Scrapy Squatrito to the lucky ticketholder," Cribari said.

BAND NOTICE

Band members will meet, ready to play, at the Sixth street entrance of the San Jose High school at 3:10 today. They will NOT bring their cases. Signed, Thomas Eagen.

SJS SPEECH DEPARTMENT PREPARES WELCOME FOR DELEGATES TO ANNUAL DEBATE TOURNEY

"With the responsibility of presenting the 10th Annual Western Debate tournament resting in the hands of 150 students and 44 actual participants, plans to welcome delegates from 10 western colleges are well under way," declares Richard Flower, debate manager.

MUST REGISTER

There are still a few army, navy, and marine reservists who have not registered with the school. They should do this at their earliest possible convenience, as it is very important. This also means the new reservists who have just recently joined. The place to sign up has been moved from the Registrar's office to the office of the Dean of Men.

The affair will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. It is one of the largest debate tourneys to be held in the western states. Last year the site was Salt Lake City.

CHAIRMEN NEEDED

Speech students are urged to sign up in the Speech office if they would like to assist the department as chairmen of the affair.

"We are in dire need of people to act as timekeepers and anyone interested should see me at once," says Marge Howell, assistant debate manager. "Spartan Knights, Spartan Spears, and Alpha Phi Omega have already volunteered their services in assisting as guides," she announced yesterday.

For each contest, various speech students will act as chairmen. Bette Jane Toland, Francis Stof-

'Turkey Truck' And 'Romper-Round' Tonight Highlight Jamboree Sponsored By Associated Women

By WILMA SABELMAN

What could be better on these evenings too dismal for idle strolling than the double-header program offered by AWA tonight! What with the gala "Romper-Round" variety show, conducted by director Loren Nicholson featuring cream from the local crop of entertainers, not to mention a much-publicized Turkey Truck where game is the pass-word for fun-loving Spartans, we reiterate—what could be better!

BIG PRE-FRESNO GAME RALLY SET FOR MONDAY NOON

As a build-up of spirit for the Fresno game on Thanksgiving day, the second big rally of the quarter will be held Monday noon in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

Originally scheduled for Tuesday, the rally date has been moved ahead because of Coach Bud Winter's Turkey Trot.

Committee Chairman Hugh Manley announces that there will be a variety of entertainment, vocal, instrumental, and otherwise.

The football team and a speaker as yet unnamed will occupy important parts on the program, the theme of which has not yet been announced.

It has also been said that the appearance of the team will be complemented by the presence of Spartan Daily sports editor Sebastian "Scrapy" Squatrito.

Army Reservists Hold Initial Meeting Today

Army Enlisted Reserve men will hold their first organized meeting in the Little Theater today at 4 o'clock.

Speaking at the meeting will be Captain George De Cuir of the Adjutant General's office. He will speak to the reservists on "What a man can expect in the way of advancement in the Army."

Capt. De Cuir's talk is the first in a series by Army officers planned by the steering committee of the reservists. This committee is composed of volunteers chosen by Dr. William Poytress, organization adviser, at the general reserve meeting last Wednesday. Further action is expected regarding election of officers. Temporary chairman at today's meeting will be Clarence Rick.

Curtain-raising for the initial part of this evening's activity will take place in the Little Theater at 7:30, where one may purchase a ticket which will admit him to both attractions for 20 cents.

Top-notchers on the variety show include the following: Alice Modry and Charles Love will present monologues; Don Allen and Jeannette Owen are to do a novelty tap dance routine; Barbara, Gail, and Pat Nelson will sing "Three Little Sisters" and "Last Call For Love" to accompaniment of their own making; and Pat Bowman will startle conventionalists with her daring skating act.

A hula dance by Peggy O'Brien may offer competition for the unique Scotch bagpipe dance by Jemima McCormick; Shirley Jean Etter will sing such popular numbers as "Just Plain Lonesome". The antics of Scrapy Squatrito is, as usual, indefinite, but Squatrito fans are assured that his line of poetic humor will not be omitted.

Semi-classical selections will be sung by Margaret Smitherum and Milo Badger. Miss Smitherum has chosen "I'll See You Again" and "Night and Day", while Badger prefers "Because" and "I Love Life".

Pianists Barbara Davis and Delwyn Carlson are to be accompanists.

The technical staff includes Head Technician Bob Newell; Pat Henley, in charge of properties; and Floyd Rezewalle, director of spotlights.

As a climax to the evening's event, the scene of action will be changed at 8:30 to the Men's gym where dancing and games may be enjoyed.

Deadline For La Torre Picture Sign-Up Today

This is a final reminder to social fraternity members that today is the last day they may make appointments for La Torre individual pictures in the Publications office.

Pictures will be taken all next week, but today is absolutely the last day to sign for appointments.

No more individual women's pictures will be taken this quarter. The La Torre editorial staff wishes to finish up the layouts of all men's organizations before Christmas.

Next week men in the following honor fraternities and clubs who do not belong to a social fraternity should make their individual picture appointments.

Alpha Phi Omega, Epsilon Nu Gamma, Phi Mu Alpha, Spartan Hall, Eckert Hall, Spartan Knights, Alpha Delta Sigma, Inter-Fraternity, Tau Delta Phi, and Alpha Eta Sigma members should attend to this immediately.

Miss Behrman announces that Spartan Knights, Eckert Hall, Inter-Fraternity, and Alpha Eta Sigma organization officers have not turned in their alphabetical lists of members to the yearbook staff as yet. She requests this be done at once.

Thrust And Parry

• CONTRIBUTORS' COLUMN

Dear Thrust and Parry:

I do think that all the amateur "Orson Welles" did a pretty good job in the War Aims class Thursday. Of course we were all suckers and believed the armistice was signed. What difference does it make how many students were shocked upon hearing it was a joke?

The faculty members of the Economic and Speech departments had a big laugh. Ask them about it some time. Maybe they'll put on the big production again so we can all have a little fun.

A Member of the War Aims Class.

Dear Thrust and Parry:

Who will be the next Orson Welles in the Speech department? That was the general question of members of the War Aims class Thursday when Economic Demobilization was turned into Mental Demoralization!

This critical moment is no time for such a joke. Many of us, for the moment believing that our loved ones were safe, were shocked to find that it was all just a farce. We disagree with that kind of humor.

Knowing that there was going to be a panic, the lecturer thoughtfully passed out syllabi so that, in case the students had been under too much of a nervous strain during his speech, they could read the material over in seclusion at their own convenience.

We would be interested in knowing what justified that performance.

Yours for a clear understanding,
Jean Weed.

Dear Thrust and Parry:

Is the faculty becoming self-conscious of its boring lectures, or do they just think it's a heck of a lot of fun to disgustingly play practical jokes on their students concerning what is now the most important subject in the world—the war?

When it comes to the point of fabricating a radio broadcast that announces a false armistice, building up unbounded elation in a classroom—and then knocking the pins from under them by telling them in effect, "We were just kidding", boys and girls. You can go now!—all just to put over a point in a War Aims class, we wonder what juvenile condition our Speech and Social Studies departments have come to.

This was what Owen Broyles did yesterday before his talk on "Economic Demobilization", apparently to show that we are not yet prepared for an intelligent peace. A prof walked into the room just before the lecture started, announced that an armistice had been signed, and that he was bringing a loudspeaker in so that the class could hear the news as it came in.

The KSJS "broadcast" by speech students was darn good—we've got to hand it to 'em. Made to appear as an NBC release, the broadcast included commentary on a fictitious unconditional armistice by the Axis by Dorothy Thompson, Churchill, Harry Hopkins, and others in authority throughout the un-Axisified world. The thing was convincing, fooling practically everyone in the audience, at least through half of the script.

The announcement was greeted by unrestrained cheering, and someone said, "I could even see my brother coming home for Christmas."

Probably the experiment did show that we are emotionally unprepared for peace, but nevertheless that was pretty well known anyway, and no solution was found; so there was no constructive purpose in the deal. It certainly did not make the lecture any more effective, because the audience was so angry they could not think of anything but the terrific let-down and disappointment. They were so mad they would probably have lynched the cast if they hadn't had an hour to cool off before the impersonators were introduced. They felt like suckers, but stranger things than were announced have happened before, and their momentary wishful gullibility casts no reflection upon their intelligence.

This sort of thing certainly isn't good for morale. To most of those who heard it, it was the most unethical and dirtiest trick ever played on this campus. There are certain things that even Americans with their practicality and humor don't even joke about—or should not, and false armistices are one of them.

Justifiable Sucker.

Dear Thrust and Parry:

The moronic and stupid ruse of making dupes out of the students in the War Aims class, in presenting what seemed a factual and realistic report of the signing of an alleged armistice between the warring nations, showed a complete lack of consideration and judgment on the part of the Social Science department. The students were flattened by the psychological impact of the hoax.

Undoubtedly, considering the "brilliant" mind of its originator and writer and the resourcefulness of the Radio Speaking society, it could not but sound convincing.

The originator of this hare-brained idea, O. M. (Orson) Broyles, justified the deception by explaining that this was an example of how unprepared people were for accepting an immediate peace. Just what does he expect from a group of students in a small-time college? Does he expect them to direct the course of the country's destiny when the pace does come? If he does, Mr. Broyles is more gullible than I previously thought. The reaction was an effective demonstration, I will grant; in my estimation, however, it did not prove his contention. Effective, yes; but nasty.

Disgruntled Reservist.

JOB SHOP

Four or five hours' work a day is the opening at a local service station.

Eighty-two and a half cents an hour is the salary for work on Sundays, starting this week.

In return for answering the telephone every other night, a man will get a room rent-free.

JUST AMONG OURSELVES

By T. W. MacQUARRIE

Not many ads yesterday. None, if you except the ads for United States bonds, and I don't know whether we get paid for those or not. Another big wail from Arthur Inman, but I know there was no money in that. Arthur has priority.

Still, he knows the inside story. He knows how to add and subtract. (These are hard times for business men everywhere. You add a little now and then, but you subtract a lot.)

The last time I said anything about ads for the Daily, it must have done some good. The very next day there were ads from Roos's, Spring's, Prussia's, Blum's, and our old friend, the Donut Shop. I hope we may do as well this time.

If we could only show those people that we do buy from them, it would surely bring the business. The downtown dailies seem to get plenty of ads. Compare our contacts with theirs. I believe we offer a much better value. If we could just isolate our buying power and show the merchants how really valuable we are to them, the Daily would be assured.

We might have to go negative with a slogan each day. Don't buy anything in San Jose today except

Why I Like Golf

● Tennis is a great game, I'll admit," said the sales manager. "I used to play a lot of tennis and still play occasionally, but mostly I play golf."

● "You see, it's this way—in tennis I have to be right there, when and where the ball goes, or I miss the point. In golf whether I smack one down the fairway or putt on the green, that little ol' ball sets there and waits for me."

● Most advertisers like the Spartan Daily for about the same reason the sales manager likes golf—prospects (San Jose State college students) don't have to be in any one place at any one time to receive the message . . . because the Spartan Daily may be picked up and read at any time that suits the convenience and the mood of the prospect.

● Joe College may do his reading before class or leisurely at home . . . Betty Co-ed may do hers at lunch or after dinner, and so it goes. But all the students will read it sometime, for the Spartan Daily is a habit.

● The Spartan Daily's 100% coverage of the college student body is creating healthy increases in sales for all advertisers! This is not surprising, because the college students spend over $2,000,000 a year in San Jose.

● Yes, Mr. Advertiser, there is MORE BUYING POWER AND A BETTER MARKET FOR ADVERTISING IN THE SPARTAN DAILY.

Turkey Trotters Pray For Dry Track Classic Is Set At 12:15 Tuesday Regardless Of Weather Conditions; Rojas Side-Lined By Poison Oak

By DICK FRY

Prayers for a dry track increased today as the gods smiled down on the small group of Turkey Trotters and gave a hint that Jupiter Pluvius might be prevailed upon to hold off for the meet Tuesday.

Although the event will take place regardless of weather conditions, times would be cut down considerably if dew was prevalent, and this would be bad as coach Bud Winter is looking forward to picking his cross-country squad from the ranks of the Gobbler Hobblers.

BERMEN WIND UP 1942 SEASON WITH LOSS AT BERKELEY POOL WEDNESDAY

By JOHNNY HUBBARD

"It's too late to lock the barn door after the horse has been stolen."

That may not be the right way to say the old adage, but San Jose's water polo team learned how true it was when they lost their season's finale to U. C. Wednesday at the Berkeley pool by a 10 to 5 score.

VICTORY PILFERED

The noble nag—Victory in this case—was pilfered by the Bears before State's mermen could get off the figurative dime—as Cal dug up four goals to get off to a 4-0 lead before San Jose shoved over its first counter.

After the locals got going, they gave the opposition a pretty good workout—but they didn't get going soon enough.

Forward Ed Rudloff led the Spartans' scoring column with three tallies to his credit, with Roger Freiler and Dan Jackson accounting for the other two.

LAST GAME FOR THREE

It was the last game for three of State's regulars—team captain Danny Meehan, goalie; Doug Bagnall, star forward; and Roger Freiler, ace guard—and the whole squad wanted to win this one badly to give them a royal send-off, but it just wasn't in the cards.

So that's that. The season's over—and water polo can be put on the shelf until next fall. The Spartans' record for the whole campaign stands at 333, with two victories and four defeats.

Cagers Score Win In Practice Game

In a practice scrimmage against the Wardrobe cagers, local independent quintet, San Jose's varsity showed considerable offensive power, although play was rather ragged at times. The final score was 32 to 38 in favor of the locals.

Bob Taylor, transfer from Ventura J. C., was the big gun in the Spartan attack as he bagged six baskets with his uncanny right hand. Willie Gamboa finally found the basket-eye as he dropped the ball through the hoop several times in the last half.

Unfortunate hit the Spartan squad in the middle of the scrimmage when Elwood Clark, veteran center, re-injured his ankle in a mixup under the basket. Clark was out of last season because of his ankle.

Bulldog Line Star

Dick Handley, sophomore 200-pound center, is playing his first season for Fresno State. He hails from Visalia Junior college, where he was the best center in the Central California J. C. league. He is aggressive and hard to move, especially on defense.

San Mateo Game Moved Back

Fine thing—just when atmospheric conditions become perfect again, they postpone the game.

Moving the San Mateo P. C. game back to the Wednesday before Thanksgiving, soccer coach Roy Diederichsen extended the shin-kicking season another week and further indicated that there would be no place on the Spartan schedule for a game with the California Bears.

Although his men were in top condition and ready for anything the Mateans had to offer, Diederichsen didn't mind the postponement as it will give the field a chance to dry out and aid the locals' offense.

At the present time, Diederichsen is considering starting some second stringers to give them more game experience. However, the peninsula kickers may prove to be tougher than anyone expects.

The gold and white men have been holding regular practices on the San Carlos turf despite adverse weather conditions, so they will be prepared for any type of weather.

ALL-FRATERNITY SQUAD SPONSORED BY GAMMA PHI SIGMA ANNOUNCES ENTRY IN NOVICE BOXING TOURNEY

An all-fraternity man team, sponsored by Gamma Phi Sigma, has announced its entry list for the annual Novice Boxing tournament opening December 9.

The team, from 120-pounder on up, is composed of seven men from Gamma Phi and one from Beta Chi Sigma. "It is the first such team ever to participate in a novice tournament," declares Dee Portal, boxing coach and sponsor of the affair.

WEBBER MANAGER

Managing the squad is Gamma Phi Bob Webber, varsity feather-weight star of last year. Webber's men will feature "scientific boxing skill and speed rather than the brawn other teams seem to be stressing," they announced.

Portal hails the fraternal entry as a sort of "campus society puts on the gloves" idea, and says he will be more than a little interested to see how they do against the impressive list of football stars who are also stepping into the ring next month.

NAMES GIVEN

At 120 pounds for Gamma Phi is Bob Montello; Monty Britton, from Beta Chi Sigma, will represent GPS at 127 pounds; the Hill brothers, Bob and John, will go in the 135 and 145 pound classes, respectively; either Bryan Bradford or

DEE PORTAL

Wayne Fontes will fight at 155 pounds; Bill Watson, Gamma Phi pledge and a reserve right half-back on the football team, is in there at 165 pounds; and Prescott Kendall is the 175-pound entry.

Webber tabs Montello, John Hill and Watson as his best men. There is still a vacancy in the heavy-weight spot, which Webber hopes to fill with a fraternity man as soon as possible.

FOUR OUT OF FIVE KEY BACKS OUT OF ACTION WITH AILMENTS RANGING FROM INFLUENZA TO CASE OF MUMPS

Jack Porter Only Sees Service In Practice Session Held Yesterday

By SEBASTIAN SQUATRITO

San Jose State's chances of defeating Fresno State college in the coast's big game on Thanksgiving Day took a decided nose dive yesterday afternoon when four out of the five full-backs on Coach Tiny Hartranft's squad failed to show up for practice. Jack Porter was the only one present. Bert Robinson and Eddie Mendosa were out with injuries, and Charlie Cook and Danny Conforti were in the Health Cottage.

Conforti is under observation for a possible case of mumps, while Cook has been out of action with a touch of the flu the past two days. However, the most serious loss was Robinson. The blond regular re-injured his knees in a practice session early this week, and team physician Jack Vogelmann announced he did not know whether he'd be ready to play on Thursday. Mendosa, also injured in practice on Monday, has a sprained ankle.

LOOKED ROSY

Early this week, with the return of Gray McConnell and George Foote, everything looked rosy. For the first time since the beginning of the season everyone was in physical shape. Then came the rains and the injuries and colds.

First it was Mendosa, then Robinson, followed by Cook, and yesterday Conforti. One consolation is the fact that Fresno has to travel to Tempe, Arizona, Saturday to tangle with Tempe State Teachers college; thus giving the Bulldogs less time in which to prepare for the Spartans and a little train weariness.

NINTH MEETING

The game next Thursday will be the ninth meeting between the two schools. San Jose has won four, tied three, and lost one. It will also be the last game for 10 Golden Raiders, and who have not lost to Fresno although tied 0 to 0 last year.

TINY HARTRANFT

PLAY LAST GAME

LIBRARY HAS DISPLAY FOR BOOK WEEK

In conjunction with National Book week, the Library staff is exhibiting recent children's books in the Education reference room.

Book jackets are being featured on the bulletin board, and two racks of children's books are on display. These books cannot be taken out this week, but they may be reserved for next week.

A book supplement of the San Francisco Chronicle, "Children's Book Week", is being given to all who are interested. The national slogan for the book week this year is "Forward With Books".

If you have a niece or nephew for whom you wish to buy a Christmas present, you are reminded by a slogan of last year, "After all—there is nothing like a good book."

All those interested in children's books should make a point to see the exhibit before the Thanksgiving vacation, for it will be removed soon thereafter.

Business Students Help In Filing Rationing Cards

Beginning Sunday, November 22, Miss Marie Curtis and 50 volunteers from her typing and filing classes will be busy filing gas rationing cards at Dunne Hall at the Civic auditorium.

The volunteers will work from 5 until 9 Sunday, and the following ten evenings—that's the kind of service coming from the Commerce department!

Last year, members of the Commerce department worked with the sugar rationing board by filing sugar cards.

This work will be just as complicated and will take just as much time, but under the supervision of Miss Curtis (who incidentally sells war bonds, teaches night classes, as well as instructs daily in her typing and filing classes at State) it will be a job well done.

An off-the-record dance will highlight the second night of the tournament when forensic students will meet in the Student Union Tuesday night at 9 o'clock. Speech students, participants, and Spartan Spears will act as hosts and hostesses for the affair.

Twenty-one certificates will be awarded at a dinner on Wednesday evening when Tournament Director R. D. Mahaffey of Linfield college will award the winning contestants.

Something new in the way of forensic activities will be a progression contest which has developed in the western states. There are three rounds and then finalists are chosen.

The section is rated on the basis of individual achievement. Panels of six are chosen, one from each college. Each student gives an introductory speech, followed by group discussions. Four minutes will be taken up by a summary in the way of extemporaneous speeches.

After the three rounds, finalists are chosen. Six are picked from the extemporaneous, impromptu, and oratory.

SJS PARTICIPANTS

Students participating in the tournament from San Jose include: impromptu speaking, Francis Stoffels, Harrison McCreath, Tom Griffin, Pat McGuire, Lois Ijams, Jack Hume, Henry Leland, Eleanor Wagner, Rex Gardiner, Bert Hol-

Reception For Faculty Given By SCA Advisors

A reception for faculty members and San Jose citizens will be given Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Student Union by the advisory board of the Student Christian association.

Members of the board and hosts and hostesses for the affair are Mrs. Paul M. Pitman, wife of the dean of men; Mr. Harrison Heath of the personnel department; Mr. J. A. Burger, commerce instructor; Jean Thoits, SCA secretary, and students Paul Mobley, Marie Gattuccio, and Douglas Hayward.

The SCA is directed by the student members themselves, and they plan activities, community service, discussions, and religious services, while the advisory board, as the name indicates, is mainly to advise and encourage the students in their activities.

Representing a broad cross-section of community life, the members include faculty members, members of the community, and students, and is made up of Catholics, Protestants, and Jews. It is, like the SCA, a combination of YWCA and YMCA representatives, and is an agency of the Community Chest.

It sponsors three women's co-operative houses—Mary Post, Mary George, and Grace Hall.

Other members of the board include Dean of Men Paul M. Pitman; Dr. James C. DeVoss, dean of the upper division; Mrs. Helen Plant, assistant dean of women; and Miss Mabel Crumby of the Education department.

promised them a working part in the perfection of a new system.

Following Churchill, the narrator broke in with a telegraphic wire report from Washington containing the news that Japan had agreed to sign an armistice as a defeated axis power.

The world-wide hook-up was then shifted to China, where Madame Chiang Kai-Shek told the world that the new order in Asia would be Chinese, not Japanese.

Speaking from battered Stalingrad, Joseph Stalin declared that "Holy Russia is safe; fascism is destroyed and the property-less proletariat must write the peace of this, the people's victory."

Back in the United States, Harry Hopkins, speaking from Washington, D.C., read a message from President Roosevelt in which he predicted that the four freedoms would become a heritage of all the world.

Dr. William Poytress then turned off the radio and continued to introduce the speaker of the day, Professor Owen Broyles, talking on Economic Demobilization. Dr. Poytress added in his introduction that now, more than ever, the problem of demobilization would be of utmost importance to the peoples of the world.

In his 15-minute discussion of the problems to be faced in the return to peace, Broyles repeatedly urged that the change-over be gradual. "The war will end in gradual stages, and it will be necessary to let down our war economy by steps and cushion the return to normal life. We cannot throw away government controls as soon as the armistice is signed as we did in the first war. We must permit the federal government to remain in control of the economic system for some time."

At 11:55 the radio was again switched on for a special news broadcast. The broadcast was the announcement by KJSS that the program just presented was in connection with the War Aims lecture on demobilization.

REVIEW

Dr. William Poytress, head of the Social Science department, started off in his usual manner to introduce the speaker of the morning when Rendahl broke in with the news that the war was over.

Following spontaneous reactions that varied all the way from laughing and shouting on the part of most of the men in the room some wailing from certain female members of the class, Broyles brought in a loud-speaker to enable the students to hear the broadcasts that were filling the lanes at the time.

After hearing talks from four corners of the earth and tending to various pertinent marks from news-casters, Broyles returned to his introductory remarks and left the field open for Broyles and his scheduled address.

The original script was written by Broyles and adapted for radio by Eleanor Wagner and Benge. Cast for the production included:

Dr. Boris Gregory as Stalin.

Leon Fletcher as Harry Hopkins, Bert Holland as Winston Churchill.

Milton Britzke as Pope Pius XII, Alice Modry as Madame Chiang Kai-Shek.

Announcers — Loren Nicholson, Jack Miller.

Teacher Trainees To Hear Speaker

If you are a sophomore and expect to receive a teaching credential in any branch, it is imperative that you attend an important meeting on December 2, at 12:00 sharp, in the Little Theater.

Miss Lillian Grey, faculty adviser for the group, will be the speaker and will bring important information to the teacher candidates.

If you have a class at that time call at the Education office, room 161, for the information blank which must be filled out.

AWA SHOW

and Turkey Trucken' strutters, the most timid stag should find refuge, for according to Co-Chairman Arilee Hansen, it is an informal "get-together to get acquainted" party for stags, although there is no objection to any pairing of individuals that may ensue.

In charge of decorations for the dance are Elyse Bartenstein and Bobbie Allen; Wilma Sabelman, publicity; Arilee Hansen, tickets; Viola Coonrad, games; Elsa Anderson, music; Myrt Peters, refreshments; Jeanne Wright, patrons; and Jane Reed, entertainment.

"Those persons selling tickets should see me today," Miss Hansen stated. Tickets will be sold in the quad all afternoon and at the doors of both events tonight.

Although the jamboree is an annual affair sponsored by women students, a special invitation is extended to men by AWA President Beverly Roberts. "You won't be disappointed," she exclaimed.

Of the variety show, Director Nicholson said, "We hope to make the presentation tonight a first-class dress rehearsal before the show goes on the road."

Phi Kappa Pi: It will not be necessary for you to work on the service flag today.

RALLY GROUP PLANS PARTY

A joint party of the Rally committee and the Spartan Knights will be held on November 30 in the Student Union.

Death Of Former Spartan Revealed

Friends of Aviation Cadet H. Kunz, a former Spartan, have been informed of his death at Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Alabama, on Wednesday.

He entered San Jose State as a freshman from Palo Alto in fall quarter of last year, leaving school soon after the entry of U. S. into the war to join the Air Corps.

Cadet Kunz was a ground school instructor at Chanute Field, Tulsa, Illinois, before his assignment to basic training at Maxwell Field. He was to have received his first and second lieutenant's commissions on his twentieth birthday.

His death was caused by pneumonia and toxic poisoning.

Three girls wish a ride to Fresno game. They will share expenses. Leave word in the distribution box of the Publications office with your name, please.
